

Twoness

“*T*he whole world was created for the sake of union.”

To unite the divided
To bring together the separate
A mysterious mathematics
Two into one
One into two.

A self-discovery
With another to learn my interior self
Not in solitary revelation
With the other to whom I can say thou
With all my soul, mind and might
I am newly revealed.

Blessed the union that turns I, me, and mine
Into we, us, and ours
Blessed this union that issues a new grammar of love.
